

Family Fun & Family Development

HILL COUNTRY FAMILY WEEKEND

90% of families fail to keep their family unity and their assets together for more than three generations. This has been true for centuries.

We focus on the specific activities that the 'successful' 10% of families have used to help keep their families unified and strong generation after generation.

About Us

Bill Minnis

Bill brings over three decades of professional experience to the task of helping people to prepare their families for their inheritances. He equips them with the tools and skills they will need to communicate, prepare and navigate through the process of creating the true legacy they wish to leave to following generations. Bill lives in Austin, Texas.

Frank Mullins

Frank is a certified Heritage Professional whose passion is working with families. He helps them to identify, strengthen and preserve what matters most to them. This includes their unique values, traditions, life stories and family identity, along with their assets. He understands that only by placing family before fortune and values before valuables can both be maintained. Frank is a native of Waco, Texas.

Clint Haggard

Clint has been helping families with succession planning, conflict resolution and setting up family governance systems since 2001. He is 5th generation Texan, a member of a large Dallas family who came to Texas in 1856. Sustaining family unity and preserving their wealth across multiple generations is Clint's focus.

One of the keys to sustaining family unity across multiple generations is spending quality time with your entire family, from young children to adult children, their spouses and grandchildren. For all too many people that just doesn't happen; we are all so busy, and years can pass without seeing the people who mean the most to us any place other than at funerals or weddings.

In just one weekend, things can change

We bring families together for a weekend of fun and family development activities in the beautiful Texas hill country. Why mix family fun with family development? In part it's because families who succeed generation after generation communicate effectively, mentor their children for success, and build and maintain a culture of trust within the family. The Hill Country Family Weekend is designed to help your family get a taste of just what that kind of family unity can look and feel like.

From Friday dinner through Sunday brunch you and your family will experience new levels of communication, and gain clarity on goals that are important to you as individuals and as a family. You will clearly see what it would mean for you to work together in the development of a vision designed to strengthen and unify your family now and for generations to come, and you will flat out have some of the most fun you have ever experienced together.

Come to the hills, and watch your family rediscover itself

There is no greater gift that a parent or grandparent can give their family than the gift of special time together. Your Hill Country Family Weekend will be an experience that your family will cherish forever.

Please contact us for details.

Clint Haggard
16633 North Dallas Pkwy, Suite 600
Addison, Texas 75001
p (972)335-7980
e clint@clinthaggard.com