

Mohamed Oubram
Swan Court General Manager.

Born and raised in the famous city of Marrakech, Morocco. He migrated to the United States of America in late eighties to further his education dreams. After attending schools and universities in Oklahoma City and Dallas Texas, he found his calling in the food and beverage industry which was a natural progress given his Moroccan background.

In Morocco, being hospitable and a gracious host is instilled in every new born.

That Moroccan attribute served him well and helped him advance his career to become the general manager of Swan Court Restaurant and Club in Richardson, Texas.

Prior to that, he has held numerous managerial positions in some of the highly recognized hotel chains such as Sheraton, Westin, Omni, and Harvey.

Mr. Oubram takes pride in his daily work and derives his contagious positive energy from seeing happy employees and satisfied guests. His work philosophy as he states is as simple as the life he lives:

1. Take care of your coworkers as you do your friends and family members.
2. Treat your restaurant guests as if they are in your own home.

And everything else takes care of itself.
